Saigon Troops Cross Cambodia Border

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces led by tanks had over-run a town defended by Royal Laotian forces near the Plaine de Jarres in Laos within the last several hours. He described it as "a major violation of the cease-fire." Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, denied the border crossing Monday, but the Saigon command has denied such incursions in the past until weeks after they took place. The troop movements were confirmed by South Vietnamese border guards and by Cambodian officers on the scene. Hien said Communist troops attacked South Vietnamese infantry positions northwest of the border town of Hong Ngu on the Mekong River. He gave enemy losses as 22 killed and government casualties as three dead and 38 wounded. Field reports indicated the South Vietnamese plunge, a half-mile into Cambodia, was a defensive operation aimed at driving North Vietnamese and Cambodian Communist troops back from the frontier. South Vietnamese air force gunships joined an armored column on the Cambodian side of the border, and new fighting was reported on the Vietnamese side of the frontier. The Viet Cong called the march into Cambodia "a blunt and very dangerous act of the Saigon military forces." A Viet Cong broadcast said the operation was ordered by the United States and "criminally violates the independence, unification, sovereignty, neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia as well as the Paris agreement and the international agreement on Vietnam."

out a village on the Cambodian side. About 500 refugees streamed into South Vietnam. Associated Press photographer Neal Ulevich reported from Tinh Bien that two columns of South Vietnamese armored personnel carriers had penetrated about 500 yards into Cambodian territory. No fighting was reported in the Tinh Bien region Monday, but 15 truckloads of troops were seen moving toward the border from Chau Doc, the provincial capital. Ulevich reported the South Vietnamese gunships were reconnoitering inside Cambodia. Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, reported sharp fighting

40th consecutive day, pounded Communist troop concentrations within seven miles of Phnom Penh today in what military sources called an attempt to relieve the besieged suburb of Takhmau. The raids were some of the closest carried out by American warplanes to the Cambodian capital. Communist gunners fired more than 50 rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle fire into the Takhmau suburb early today, field reports said, in an attack that killed at least two people and wounded 14 others. Military sources said the primary targets of the air raids today were the east bank of the Bassac River just south of Takhmau, and the defense zone of Takeo, a beleaguered provincial capital 55 miles south of Phnom Penh. The marshy wastelands of the Bassac's east bank, military sources said, may harbor dozens of Communist bunker complexes used as staging areas for attacks on the capital and its suburbs. Meanwhile, U. S. warplanes, attacking for the

'Cease Fire' Left Viet Ghost Town After Shellings

TAN CHAU, South Vietnam (AP) — The steel shutters are up and padlocked on nearly all the shops in this once-thriving Mekong Delta town near the Cambodian border. Only an occasional motorbike passes. A few people wander through the deserted streets. About four-fifths of the town's 30,000 people have fled. More than 80 have been killed and 260 wounded.

Three weeks of shelling from Communist batteries near the border six miles to the north has smashed parts of Tan Chau and left its people in terror. A U.S. official at the provincial capital, Chau Doc, says this area has had much more suffering since the start of the cease-fire on Jan. 28 than before.

"Tan Chau was peaceful and placid for many years," the official said. Its misery started soon after the war officially ended. The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong started lobbing 122mm rockets into Tan Chau one or two at a time. Each one usually killed a few people.

Ten days ago, 15 persons perished and about 35 were wounded in a shelling that wrecked the riverfront fish market.

That bombardment broke the will of the people to stay in Tan Chau, he feels. "Up until then, people were holding on. They'd closed the schools and sent some of the kids away, but most of them were staying in their homes," he said. After the fish market rocket, a lot of the merchants packed up their goods, closed their stores and left.

The 5,000 or so people remaining are living near the edges of town. Some still work at dying silk. This and fishing were among the main industries of Tan Chau.

A four-day respite from the shelling ended on Saturday afternoon when a rocket crashed into the small backyard of a school. The school building was empty, but a man was killed and seven children playing nearby were wounded. The body of a puppy was found beside a tree.

Members of a team from the International Commission of Control and Supervision have investigated several of the shellings. The American official said, but they have been unable to stop it.

U.S. sources said the purpose of the shelling apparently is to harass South Vietnamese troops in the area prior to an attempt to occupy Hong Ngu District, on the South Vietnamese side of the border. But a South Vietnamese soldier stationed in the district said the shelling is a "pilot project to scare people out of the town."

Military Base Closings to Save $ Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy Secretary John Warner told members of Congress today that 274 military installations across the nation—including the Boston Navy Yard—are being closed in an effort to save $1 billion a year in defense costs.

Warner told a meeting of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation that the closings would involve the loss of 16,640 military and 21,172 civilian jobs.

He said in the meeting at the office of Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott that the Philadelphia and Portsmouth, N.H. Navy Yards would remain open, but the Boston Navy Yard would be closed.

Warner told the group that over the past 10 years "through the cutbacks in defense spending the Navy has had to reduce the number of ships 42 per cent, aircraft 21 per cent and people 27 per cent."

"During this same period of time there has been little or no cutback in shore facilities."

"People across the United States have demanded defense reductions and we have had to look at a base structure realignment across the United States," Warner said.

Military officers began handing out information on base closings. The Pentagon assigned a crew of young military officers to deliver the information in manila envelopes to the offices of each senator and congressman today.

Defense Department officials plan to make the list public 24 hours later. By that time, however, the lawmakers are likely to have released much of the information on their own.

The military base cutbacks will be the first of major dimensions in more than three years, and they are expected to eliminate tens of thousands of jobs.

Plans for the changes have been in the works for months, but administration officials delayed announcing them until after the 1972 elections, Jerry W. Friedheim, a Pentagon spokesman, said last November that "political realities" influenced the timing of the reductions, which always are unpopular because of their effects upon local economies.

There have been reports that New England, particularly Massachusetts, will be hard hit. This has put Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy, D-Mass., in the unusual position of opposing a cutback in military spending. Last week, Kennedy cited "the long established importance of these bases not only to the defense posture of the nation."

It has been reported that in Massachusetts the ax will fall upon the Boston Navy Yard, Westover Air Force Base near Springfield and Otis AFB on Cape Cod.

Also reported scheduled for closing is Ft. Dix, N.J., a major base where hundreds of thousands of soldiers from the eastern part of the country have taken basic training.

There are about 5,000 military installations in the United States and 2,600 overseas. About 800 are considered major bases.

The last major base closing was in March, 1970, when 94,000 civilian and military jobs were eliminated at 371 installations at a saving estimated at $1.1 billion annually.

Only 13 of the 371 bases were actually shut down. In most cases, however, there was a cutback in the amount of work, responsibility and employment at the bases.

For any secretary of defense, the closing of military bases is a trial by political fire.

For Elliot L. Richardson, it is even hotter because his home state of Massachusetts may be among the hardest hit.

He has been warned already by some politicians that he might as well forget about running for governor or any other high office back home if he goes ahead and shuts down the Boston Navy Yard and two major Air Force bases in Massachusetts.

With the formal announcement of base closings due Tuesday, Richardson agreed to see Sen. Edward W. Brooke and Gov. Francis W. Sargent and listen to their final appeal today. They're all Massachusetts Republicans but Richardson and Brooke have been political rivals in the past.

White House correspondents dinner Saturday night and said he had found that the most difficult time for a President was when the nation was "reaching peace."

"Too often after war, we fail to build a structure for everlasting peace," Nixon said, adding that the United States must remain strong because it is the only nation that "can provide the leadership."

British Prime Minister Edward Heath came to the United States in early February for talks with Nixon. Italy's Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti is due Tuesday and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt on May 1.

Negotiations on new trade arrangements between the United States and members of the European Economic Community are scheduled to begin about September.

Nixon addressed the annual day that approximately 100 acres of state and private woodlands had already been destroyed. "They are getting it under control," the District Ranger added.

Approximately 15 men and equipment were reportedly at the scene, which was only approachable along woods roads. The remoteness of area hampered efforts of fire fighters, Knickerbocker said.

An unidentified person coming down Route 52 off the Shawangunk first reported the blaze, which could be seen from several miles away during the night.

Although the blaze was being brought under control with the help of a bulldozer to cut a fire line, there was the possibility of it breaking out again. "There is always that possibility," Knickerbocker said.

No injuries were reported at the scene. Low humidity and winds had dried the area, Knickerbocker said. Elsewhere numerous brush fires were reported on Sunday in both Dutchess and Ulster Counties, keeping fire fighters busy.

Nixon Will Visit Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon plans a trip to Europe this fall which White House sources say will take him to Great Britain, France, West Germany and Italy.

Nixon revealed plans for the journey Sunday when he talked to reporters after a White House religious service. He described it as "a grand tour" but did not mention specific dates.

He also did not mention the countries he would visit, but aides said they would include the largest nations of Western Europe.

White House sources also revealed Sunday that Soviet foreign affairs to Europe following the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam. He said recently that "this is the year of Europe." Most of his foreign visitors this year have been from Europe and the Middle East.

Nixon is expected to discuss with the Italian president and Brandt and during his trip in the fall the strengthening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and economic relations.

Negotiations on new trade arrangements between the United States and members of the European Economic Community are scheduled to begin about September.

The President apparently has tried to turn his attention in

Bell Notes Bridge Help

ALBANY — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) said today that local governments throughout the State whose areas include portions of the New York State Thruway, stand to save thousands of dollars in costs for repairs to bridges crossing the highway under a new agreement being offered by the Thruway Authority to municipalities.

Under existing law, the maintenance and repair of such bridges, originally built by the Thruway Authority, is the responsibility of the municipality involved, be it a county, town, village or city road.

"The Thruway Authority is embarking on a major bridge rehabilitation program," Bell explained. "Until now this had not been a particular problem for most municipalities, since the bridges generally have held up well for the 20 years the Thruway has been open. Now the work must be done, and over the next 11 years, many of the 300 bridges carrying local roads over the Thruway will be affected."

The assemblyman said that without the help of the Thruway Authority, bridge repair and maintenance work could cost each municipality involved upwards of $70,000 or $80,000 for each bridge affected.

The new agreement, Bell said, gives the municipality the option of having the repair work done under Thruway Authority contract — at a tremendous savings to the municipality — or doing the bridge repair work using its own personnel and equipment.

Assuming a municipality would do the work under Authority contract, it would reimburse a specific nominal sum to the Authority (averaging in the neighborhood of $10,000, depending on the job to be done) if all the work is performed under the contract, Bell said. A smaller sum would be reimbursed if only the wearing surface on the bridge structure is included in the Authority contract. In such case other work, such as approaches, would be performed by the work forces of the municipality involved.

Assemblyman Bell noted that the Thruway Authority agreement has been approved by the New York State County Officers Association and the County Highway Superintendents Association.

STEP Urges Area Employers To Aid Cause

KINGSTON — Project STEP, a county-wide program to train disadvantaged and minorities so they can locate meaningful jobs, is urging employers in Ulster County to make a concentrated effort to assist the Chamber of Commerce sponsored organization in placing persons seeking employment.

Mrs. Ethel Billups, coordinator of Project STEP (now located at 358 Broadway), asks employers to evaluate their general and summer employment needs, and to reserve a position for a STEP candidate if possible.

For the period Jan. to March 1973, 20 candidates were placed in meaningful jobs. Since the inception of the program in 1966, 237 candidates have been placed.

Employers with available jobs are urged to contact Mrs. Billups.

Koenig Extends Passover Wishes

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig of Kingston today extended wishes for a "most happy and Joyous Passover" to the Jewish Community.

The Jewish observance of Passover, the Festival of Freedom, begins today at sundown and continues through April 24.

In his message the mayor said that "the strength of man's religious faith is rooted in his confidence that God, having created man in his own image, acknowledges the worth and value of every individual regardless of the position of life in which a man may find himself." This is the message brought to light by the Jewish observance of Passover, he said.

TOWN OF POUGHKEEPSIE — A Beacon man and two Orange County persons were killed Sunday in separate auto accidents. Robert Brown, 44, of 31 West Willow Street, Beacon, was pronounced dead at Vassar Brothers Hospital two hours after his Sunday night accident on South Road, Poughkeepsie. According to Poughkeepsie Town Police, Brown's 1972 auto was proceeding north on the four-lane highway when it appeared to be making a turn onto South Gate Drive. He collided with a car operated by William Stewart of Wappingers Falls, lost control, and struck a utility pole on the east side of the road. Brown was ejected from his auto on impact, said police. He was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital by Arlington Ambulance, where he was pronounced dead at 8:35 p.m. Stewart was taken to St. Francis Hospital, where he was treated and released. The accident was witnessed by Town of Poughkeepsie Patrolman William Hanton, who was investigated at the scene. Two persons were killed Sunday night near Goshen when an auto struck them as they were crossing N. Y. Route 17, seeking help from a service station for their out-of-service car. They were Ann Jarrett, 29, of Monticello and Willie Davidson, 22, of Woodbourne. Mrs. Jarrett's two-year-old son, Leon, was listed in fair condition at Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown following the accident, and three other children were treated and released. According to police, the driver of the auto that struck them said she did not see the group.

And three persons were injured Sunday on the Thruway pit, and Robert Fresco of Tonawanda, N.Y., was taken to a hospital. Paul Saulzman of mile post 84, south of Kings-Long Island were both treated and released after being taken to a hospital. Margaret Thurlow of Long Island was listed in fair condition by Fatum's by motor vehicle than by rail.

Pope to Youth: Look to Jesus

By The Associated Press

The calendar today linked observances of three of the world's major faiths as Christians were in the second day of their pre-Easter Holy Week. Jews prepared to begin celebration of Passover at sundown and Moslems observed the anniversary of the birth of the Prophet Mohammed.

Roman Catholics carried olive branches and palms on Sunday as they commemorated Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem five days before his crucifixion.

In Jerusalem, more than 5,000 pilgrims—including poor Arab villagers, high prelates in scarlet and monks in black robes—retraced Christ's path into the Holy City in the sixth Palm Sunday under Israeli rule.

A busy highway and a mountain-side stairway now cover the ways to bring about change, he said.

The Pope blessed and distributed olive branches and palms—symbols of the triumph of Christ—on his entrance to Jerusalem—scores of cardinals, prelates and youths.

After mass, the Pope delivered his noon blessing from his balcony as thousands of Easter Week tourists packed St. Peter's Square in the warm sunshine.

President and Mrs. Nixon observed Palm Sunday at a service at the White House conducted by the Rev. Edward Victor Hill of the Mount Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Los Angeles.

The Jewish celebration of Passover lasts eight days and was expected to be extra joyful this year because Israel is celebrating its 25th anniversary as a nation.

Killer tornadoes raided Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf Coast Sunday, causing death and injury in three cities and destroying homes, cars and airplanes.

At least eight persons were killed, and 19 others were injured.

A huge tornado trapped motorists on Interstate 35 in southern Texas near Pearsall Sunday evening. The twister

Compromise Hinted On 'Bug' Testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Signaling from the White House and Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. indicated compromise might be in the works today for White House aides to present open, sworn testimony before the Senate investigating committee in the Watergate bugging case.

Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell emerged from the White House Saturday and said that he believes "everybody in the White House who has been remotely involved will be testifying."

At the same time, Ervin, chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities, was asked about a possible formula under which White House aides would go to Capitol Hill to testify openly but would reserve the right to invoke executive privilege on specific questions.

"Any witness has the legal right to invoke any right he wishes before any congressional committee," Ervin told UPI. "I think a White House aide should be accorded the same rights as any other witness."

Until now, President Nixon has refused to let White House aides testify on grounds that his communications with his aides are confidential. The compromise formula would allow aides to refuse to answer questions about Cambodia, the Vietnam cease-fire, and other sensitive areas not directly related to Watergate.

In other action today: —Ervin called a meeting of the committee but denied it had anything to do with staff problems, adding he had "complete confidence" in the ability of the committee and the staff to get to the bottom of the Watergate case.

Hugh W. Sloan Jr., treasurer of the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President at the time of the Watergate break-in last June, was scheduled to make a deposition in the Democrats' $6.4 million civil suit against the re-election committee.

Chavez Calls For a Boycott In Union Switch

INDIO, Calif. (AP) — The Teamsters Union announced Sunday it had won union contracts from growers previously signed with Cesar Chavez United Farm Workers Union.

The settlement immediately spawned a strike threat and a boycott call by Chavez.

Ralph L. Cotner, a spokesman for the Western Conference of Teamsters, told a news conference his independent union had signed contracts "with 85 per cent of the growers" in the Coachella Valley, which annually produces three million boxes of table grapes.

A grower said total annual state production is 25 million boxes. During May, through July, however, the valley produces 80 per cent of the state's grape output. Arizona is the only other substantial producer, with an annual output of about one million boxes, the grower said.

Cotner displayed petitions and contended they held signatures in favor of the Teamsters from 4,000 of the 5,000 workers seasonally employed in the valley.

Chavez, however, disputed the figures, saying only 1,800 workers are now employed in the valley, with about 1,000 more during the peak harvest season.

Hit 'Corporate Giants'

Demonstrators Seek Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a midnight filing deadline only hours away, some Americans aimed disgust as well as dollars at the federal tax collector today.

Demonstrations designed to spur sweeping tax reforms were slated in 31 cities. All were organized by the Tax Action Campaign headed by former Democratic Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma.

The Harris group, claiming 25,000 enlistees, and other reform advocates have yet to agree on precise proposals for tax change. But they agree on one thing: The working man pays too much, the corporate giants too little.

Harris planned to illustrate that point by conferring a "Tax Avoider" award upon International Telephone & Telegraph

Corp. during his scheduled speech to an afternoon taxpayers' rally in front of the New York Stock Exchange.

ITT, said Harris, paid $20.2 million in federal taxes in 1971 while reporting profits that year of $413.9 million—for an effective tax rate of only 4.9 per cent. The statutory limit on corporations is 48 per cent.

In Washington, ITT spokesman Bernie Goodrich said the firm would not comment on Harris' criticism.

Activities elsewhere in the country included news conferences, speeches by sympathetic congressmen, marches, picketing of IRS buildings, pamphletting and the presentation of other "tax avoider" awards.

Rallies were scheduled for Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, Boston and Milwaukee.

In Washington, Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and George McGovern planned to urge tax reforms before the House Ways and Means Committee even though Chairman Wilbur Mills has said chances are slim for major action this year.

McGovern said in his prepared testimony that Congress should combine tax reform legislation with the trade bill President Nixon has asked it to pass. Mills has said he would lay aside tax reform and start hearings on the trade bill May 7.

"I think we must enact both bills," said McGovern, adding that it is "interesting that the urgency the White House has given to trade legislation has grown in direct proportion to the threat that the Congress might pass meaningful tax reform."

On the House floor, seven congressmen headed by Reps. Donald Corman, D-Calif., and Henry Reuss, D-Wis., were to advance their own loophole-closing proposals in speeches.

Harris said in an interview representatives of his group will meet soon with labor and congressional leaders to decide on a detailed course of strategy. But at the least, he said, legislation should emerge this year which would restore total payroll taxes to 1971 levels. That would mean a reduction of about $250 from the average worker—and elimination of some corporation breaks.

Senator Mason Appointed

ALBANY
The appointment of State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th District), as vice chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Consumer Protection, was announced this week by Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson.

The appointment is especially significant in view of the fact that Mason, once chairman of the Assembly Agriculture Committee, lost that $5,000 post after he bucked Gov. Rockefeller's demands for new taxes.

A veteran of many years in the Assembly, Mason ran for the State Senate in 1972.

Anderson's appointment of Mason as vice chairman is in order that he may serve during the closing weeks of the 1973 session and for post-session committee activities.

Mason's appointment was among eight made by Anderson involving first-year Republican members of the Senate.

Anderson said he waited until this point in the session to make the designations so that the members had a chance to determine for themselves their fields of interest in the major issues confronting the Legislature this year.

Mason's district takes in the towns of Woodstock, Saugerties, Hurley, Gardiner, Shandaken, Olive, Marbletown, Wawarsing and the Town of Ulster.

Council Requests Plan

POUGHKEEPSIE
The Council of Industry of Southeastern New York (CI) has strongly endorsed a call by Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman for publication by the Metropolitan Transportation Authority of its "long delayed" master plan for development of Stewart Field.

In a letter to the MTA, CI president Taylor N. Thompson states: "Many responsible citizens and organizations whose participation in the public debate on Stewart's future could be expected to elevate its character are waiting for your master plan as something tangible to which to react. As long as they do not have it, the vacuum nature abhors will continue to be filled by specious speculation, headline hearsay, and idle gossip—all of which generate heat but no light."

"The disposition of Stewart Field is probably the single most important decision for Southeastern New York in the decade of the 70's. All sides of the question deserve better expression than they have so far received, or can receive until the regional community is told what you propose to do," Thompson concluded.

Oil Is Necessary

The much-discussed energy crisis has significance far beyond the possibility of insufficient gasoline for Americans to take as many pleasure trips as they want this summer, although that certainly is an unhappy prospect.

While environmental suits continue to tie up the Alaska pipeline project, oil industry spokesmen note that we are adding $5 million to our balance deficits every day we do without the Arctic oil resources.

The pipeline project poses the old problem of dollars versus ecology and whatever answer is found, many people will be unhappy.

Even more dismal is the ominous conclusion reached by the prestigious International Institute for Strategic Studies in London which takes a view beyond the possibility of fuel shortages and brownouts.

The Institute sees the shortages as a real threat to peace.

Competition for limited natural resources could lead to international conflict when countries find that their security or survival is at stake, the study observes.

The world now has a breathing spell in which to try to avert this kind of warfare but it may not be a long one. When we consider that fuel oil suppliers in the east and the midwest had to put some customers on rationing this past winter and some industrial plants had to shut down, this becomes a subject that cannot be put off.

Rules for Judges

The life of a jurist will be one of probity both professionally and privately, if he follows the tough code of ethics adopted for the guidance of all federal judges. Out of respect for their positions, the nine sitting on the Supreme Court were excepted. Yet high on the banned activities are two originating in the Supreme Court—Chief Justice Earl Warren's service as head of the commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy, and former Associate Justice Abe Fortas' acceptance of counsel fees while sitting on the high bench.

The code was adopted by the 25-member Judicial Conference of the Oil-producing Arab states are moving toward a status of creditor nations, piling up huge revenues that they cannot possibly spend within their own countries. The trend can only exaggerate their political and economic power over nations that depend upon them for fuel.

So we are left with the question of what steps the fuel-consuming nations should take to keep the institute's dark projections from coming to pass. One suggestion has been to take greater advantage of nuclear power and explore other alternatives to fossil fuels.

The London Institute sees oil demand as a global problem and this implies international strategy to help avert political strife in satisfying that demand. Oil rich nations have adopted a common policy toward prices and royalties and efforts to gain control of oil production by multinational companies within their borders.

If those nations are discovering that in union there is strength, there is no reason why their customers cannot do the same. Nations which rely on imported oil could act in concert on purchases and exchange of petroleum and in development of new sources of fuel outside the Arab-dominated consortium.

The picture of nations fighting among themselves for control of natural resources is frightening. Wisdom and foresight at this point might well remove that time bomb from our future.

United States, the governing body of the federal court system. With only a few changes, it follows the code of judicial ethics drafted by the American Bar Association last year and designated to apply to all judges at every level of government. The Supreme Court justices, though exempt, are the most likely to follow it.

How far judges may venture into potentially conflicting areas as business, education and politics is defined, along with setting a standard of conduct for their professional and, to some extent, their private lives. It prescribes rigid conduct for the 670 federal judges. It can only make for better judges and justice.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Watergate "Mission Impossible" team, which was arrested inside Democratic party headquarters on June 17, 1972, broke into the premises three weeks earlier during the Memorial Day weekend.

This previous espionage mission has been described to federal grand jury by James McCord, President Nixon's erstwhile campaign security chief, who confessed he bugged Democratic official Spencer Oliver's telephone while others photographed party documents.

The Memorial Day break-in was staged by eight men, three more than were caught at gunpoint in early hours of June 17. Asked how many actually entered the Democratic lair, McCord told the secret panel: "Seven Cubans and me or I. I think that's correct."

"And do you remember the different functions that were performed by any of the different people?" he was asked. "I mean, what were they doing? Could you tell us that?"

"My function . . ." explained McCord, "was electronics, while Mr. (Bernard)

Barker went through various and sundry files, and he and some of the others picked out certain material to be photographed. It seems to me that Barker helped set up, or one of the men helped set up, the photographic pieces of equipment to take pictures . . .

Lookout Men

"And Mr. (Frank) Sturgis and two or three of the others were generally the lookout men, so to speak. Keeping an eye on the guard, if he were coming out, or anyone else that might come into the office. The other Cubans, generally, seemed to be supporting Mr. Barker in the photographic operation."

He was asked how long they stayed inside. "It seems to me," he answered "that we were in a couple of hours. It may have been a little less than that, about an hour and a half."

Going into more detail, McCord testified: "As best I recall, the others went in first, went through the front door. And I got a call, I think from (Howard) Hunt, as best I recall, by telephone from his office at the Watergate Hotel, which conveyed the message that, in so many words, that men were inside and I should go ahead and join them."

"So I came up the backstairs from the basement, which were taped, and came up to the back door, and I think Frank Sturgis let me in the back door."

The prosecutors wanted to know how the other conspirators got in the front door. "Well," said McCord, "I wasn't there, but my understanding was that a locksmith opened the lock or otherwise they jimmied it."

Chicago Bugs

Earlier, McCord told the grand jury had purchased the bugging devices in Chicago. Seymour Glazer, an assistant U.S. attorney, showed him an electronic device.

"Mr. McCord . . ." said Glazer, "I want to ask you, sir, if this is one of the devices that you purchased from Mr. Stevens of the Stevens Company in Chicago?"

"I can say that it looks like it," agreed McCord. "It's about the same size. I can't positively identify it, because there's no serial numbers on it, but it has a very close appearance and I would guess it was the same."

"I see," said Glazer. "And does it resemble the one that you placed upon Spencer Oliver's phone?"

"It does," testified McCord. After the June arrest, McCord got rid of most of the incriminating equipment. He explained to the grand jury: "Some of that equipment I had stored in a sort of wooden cabinet, along with a lot of other electronic parts that had been purchased, and these were stored in a closet near the laundry room, in my home . . . like some people have a carpenter workshop, I have a bit of an area there where I kept some of the electronic equipment."

In the Potomac

"So I took all of it and, essentially, I wanted to get it out of the house, and I took that equipment and stashed it either out on a country road — those two country roads — except for some of the things which I tossed in the Potomac . . ."

He didn't have the heart, however, to throw out the expensive items. "The receiver and the walkie-talkies," he said, "were the most expensive items of equipment, and I knew that they would destroy them very, very quickly and they'd be completely out of commission, and so I thought, 'Well, I'll hold these and see what happens.'"

But he carefully removed the serial numbers from the bugging equipment, he testified.

The once taciturn, now talkative McCord had even more interesting things to tell the grand jury, which will report in a subsequent column.

On Israeli Hawks

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The extraordinary Israeli government disclosure that an American diplomat played a leading role in the defeat of Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's brazen plan for Israel's continuing absorption of Arab lands dramatized the rising concern both here and in Israel that Dayan and the Israeli hawks are going too far.

Once Prime Minister Golda Meir and the controlling moderates in the Israeli Labor cabinet decided not to allow Dayan's plan to be put to a cabinet test, where it would have been beaten, the matter could have been laid to rest.

But instead, the quiet, low-key intervention of Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, President Nixon's top Middle East troubleshooter, was intentionally leaked in Jerusalem by government officials. In short, the controlling moderates chose to publicize American resistance to Dayan's disturbing plan for unlimited Israeli or Jewish purchase of Arab-owned lands in the Israeli-occupied west bank of Jordan.

The two reasons for this highly unusual conduct: to buttress the anti-Dayan decision with the political backing of the U.S. Israel's powerful ally; and to put the Dayanites, both in and out of the Labor party, on notice that Dayan's presumptuous plans for territorial expansion could bring an unwelcome reaction from President Nixon.

Moreover, Sisco's intervention, which took the form of a simple telephone call to the Israeli embassy here asking what Israel's territorial policy really is, is not the only signal that Israel's dynamic and aggressive policy toward both its Arab neighbors and its occupied Arab territories is under intense scrutiny here.

Thus, a high U.S. official is responsible for the fact that the full text of a remarkable speech by Foreign Minister Abba Eban last month is now making the rounds here. The speech was remarkable because it directly contradicted, without naming Dayan, the aggressive foreign policy positions the defense minister has been taking in his campaign to stake out a "Greater Israel" political position for the battle over control of the Labor party when Prime Minister Meir eventually retires.

Without ever naming Dayan, Eban also attacked hawkish plans for the future of the occupied territories "which are characterized by maximalism at the expense of the rights of others, and of the prospects for peace."

"The question that is now asked everywhere," Eban said, "is not about Israel's courage and resourcefulness, which are everywhere taken for granted, but about its human qualities."

Eban's speech, which went unnoticed by the U.S. embassy in Tel Aviv, was a daring plea against the continuing "dispossession of Arabs" in the lands captured by Israel in the 1967 war.

"An article is published (in the Israeli press) stating that the dispossession of Arabs is an indispensable condition of the realization of Zionism," Eban said. "This is pure libel."

By contrast, Dayan on March 29 said it was intolerable that "the government of sovereign Israel should restrict Jewish land purchases in Judea and Samaria" — the Biblical lands which include much of the Israeli-occupied west bank of Jordan.

With out ever naming Dayan, Eban also attacked hawkish plans for the future of the occupied territories "which are characterized by maximalism at the expense of the rights of others, and of the prospects for peace."

"The question that is now asked everywhere," Eban said, "is not about Israel's courage and resourcefulness, which are everywhere taken for granted, but about its human qualities."

Eban has thus made himself the spokesman for the anti-hawks and is trying to stake out a moderate position of his own in the coming battle over control of the Labor party.

The Nixon administration is watching this developing battle, and its implications for future U.S. policy toward Israel and such pro-U.S. Arab states as Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia, with special attention.

On Israel's daring, far-flung military attacks across international borders against Palestinian guerrilla bases, officials here are maintaining a placid calm. But on demands by the Labor party's leading hawk, Moshe Dayan, for establishing Jewish settlements anywhere in the captured territories — and for purchasing Arab lands with Israeli or American funds — these same officials are not placid at all.

Mrs. Meir's decision, backed by the U.S. to go against Dayan's demand, together with Eban's courageous appeal to the "human qualities" of Judaism, are a signal that the hawks do not yet dominate Israel — and a warning of U.S. displeasure if they ever do.

Ambrose Bierce Is Beautiful

One of my all-time heroes — which I admit to no one — is Ambrose Bierce. He was a super-cynic, and, in the years 1887-1896, wrote for "The San Francisco Examiner." He was last seen in Mexico in 1914, carrying a gun and a duffel bag, following the battles of Pancho Villa.

He, you may recall, wrote "The Devil's Dictionary." I give you some daffy definitions from it:

surrender his skin in hopes of saving his bones.

Air: A nutritious substance for fattening the poor. Love: A temporary insanity which can be cured by marriage.

Jezebel: A woman found out. Mausoleum: The funniest folly of the rich. Marriage: A master, a mistress and two slaves, making, in all, two. Miracle: An unfathomable act, like beating four kings and an ace with four aces and a king. Miss: A female in the market.

hard luck. Congratulations: The civility of envy. Ambassador: A politician who, having failed to be elected to office, is given one on condition that he leave the country. Coward: One who thinks with his legs.

Sinner: One who has pursued a pleasure so long that he had the misfortune to overtake it. Distance: The only thing the rich are willing for the poor to call their own, and keep. Dragon: Any soldier who advances on foot and retreats on horseback. Eavesdrop: Secretly to hear a catalogue of your own vices.

Envelope: The nightgown of the love letter. Fiddle: An instrument to tickle human ears by drawing a horse's tail across the entrails of a cat. Fidelity: A virtue possessed by those who are betrayed.

Deputy: Any male relative of an office holder. Ice: The great leveler; the poor get theirs in the winter; the rich get theirs in the summer.

Marlboro Trio Indicted for Taxes

MARLBORO with subscribing to false corporation income tax returns for the firm over a three-year period. Maximum fine for each charge is three years in prison or $5,000 in fines.

Three members of a family refuse hauling service in Marlboro have been indicted by a federal grand jury on several income tax evasion charges. According to Internal Revenue Service offices in Newburgh, indictments in New York City were returned on John LeMela, 64, president; his wife, Mildred, 54, secretary-treasurer; and their son Felice, 39, a stockholder in the LeMela Sanitation Service, Inc.

The firm did hauling "up and down the valley," according to an IRS spokesman in Newburgh, including several municipal and town contracts.

Charges against all three for attempted evasion of corporate taxes for the four years from 1966 to 1969 state that they understated the firm's income by more than $44,000. Mr. and Mrs. LeMela are also charged with failure to report some $50,000 in personal income over the same period.

Penalties on these charges are limited to $10,000 and/or five years imprisonment on each charge, if convicted.

Mrs. LeMela is also charged

Set Group Plan For Blood Bank

KINGSTON coverage they have until now obtained through the City of Kingston Laboratory. Changing patterns of medical practice have made the old system partly obsolete, it was reported. Because of the advantages to local groups and the community at large of belonging to the Ulster County Blood Bank, the City of Kingston Laboratory has recently requested all existing pools to transfer their memberships to the Ulster County Blood Bank. One group which has already done so is the Spring Lake Fire Department. It simultaneously gave blood which its members had previously donated to needy elderly patients in the local hospitals.

"Effective immediately" of any organization, firm, institution, association, or corporation, including municipal corporations, operating in the County of Ulster. If the headquarters of a specific business is located in the County of Ulster and has branch offices elsewhere, those employees are entitled to the same benefits according to the rules and regulations as specified in the Group Subscriber's Certificate.

It is hoped that presently constituted community and industrial pools will transfer to the Ulster County Blood Bank in order to maintain the blood

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened mixed today, following an uncertain day Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down a fraction, but advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by a broad margin.

Analysts said inflationary worries were acting as a brake on the market, keeping buying restrained.

Opening Big Board prices included Kroger, off 1/2 to 18. It reported increased sales but lower earnings. Chrysler was down 1/4 to 34 3/4; International Telephone, down 1/4 to 41 3/4; and Fannie Mae, off 1/4 to 16 1/4.

On Friday, the Dow fell 4.67 points to 959.36. The blue chip indicator was also weak Thursday, but analysts said these declines may have been due to technical factors in view of the market's sharp rise earlier last week.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index fell .03 to 24.18.

West Saugerties Man Included in Drug Raid

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police and federal narcotics agents announced today the indictment of 86 alleged drug dealers, including some of the biggest dealers in the metropolitan area, on federal charges of conspiracy to sell dangerous drugs.

Daniel P. Casey, regional director of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said that as of 8:30 a.m., 62 of the 86 persons had been arrested in raids which began early Saturday morning.

Locally, Hurley state police, along with members of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and New York City Police, arrested Alphonse V. Sisca, 26, of West Saugerties on charges of distributing and possession with the intent to distribute narcotics, as well as conspiracy to do so.

Sisca, who police said was associated with the Pine Tree Ranch, Candampt Road, West Saugerties, was apprehended at approximately 8:30 a.m. Saturday by BCI and uniformed troopers under the direction of Senior Investigator Michael Lisman.

At the time of his arrest, Sisca was allegedly in possession of a loaded .25 caliber automatic pistol and fully loaded semi automatic rifle, along with a quantity of cocaine, according to police.

He was turned over to federal authorities for prosecution on all charges.

Four of those named were being sought in Detroit, he said.

Casey said the 86 were members of "a series" of "interconnected" rings which had links to organized crime.

He declined to elaborate but one official said: "We have some of the biggest drug people in the metropolitan area and this may be the biggest drug bust in the city's history. We have people that my colleagues have said for years, you'll never get those guys."

Casey said the 86 were indicted Friday by federal grand juries in Manhattan and Newark.

Deputy Police Commissioner William McCarthy said the 62 were arrested by a force of 250 police, narcotics and BNDD agents at their homes.

McCarthy said the officers worked in four-man teams—two police and two federal officers in making the arrests.

The suspects offered no resistance, he said. About 15 guns were seized as were small amounts of heroin and cocaine.

McCarthy said the rings dealt in "millions of dollars" of heroin and cocaine a year, bringing in the heroin from north France and Italy and the cocaine from South America by courier, cars and airplanes and would distribute the drugs through the metropolitan area and across the country.

Casey said the indictments were the result of an 18-month investigation which used nine authorized wiretaps and videotaped observations of the ring's activities.

$6 Billion Nixon Plan to Congress

Strategic Stockpile Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today announced plans to sell $6 billion worth of industrial raw materials from the nation's strategic stockpile—in effect using the metals and minerals which had been purchased for defense purposes to wage an offensive against inflation.

"In our current fight against rising prices, one weapon which has not yet been effectively employed is our national strategic stockpile," the President said.

The President asked Congress to approve legislation authorizing him to sell 16 major commodities worth $4.1 billion. He said existing law already gives him the power to dispose of $1.9 billion worth of goods he considers to be in excess of the nation's needs.

If Congress approves, the result would be a slimmed down hoard worth $700 million—which Nixon said would be enough to provide the weapons for a year-long war.

The stockpile currently consists of 91 commodities with a market value of $6.7 billion, but over half of the current dollar value is in seven items: aluminum, copper, lead, silver, tin, tungsten and zinc.

"Short term demand for industrial commodities has outpaced short-term supplies," Nixon told Congress. "As a result, prices for industrial commodities have recently been increasing at unacceptably high rates—in some cases by more than 30 per cent in the past 12 months alone."

"These increases will eventually be felt in higher prices for the American consumer if we do not act decisively now," he said.

"By disposing of unneeded items in the strategic stockpile, we can strike a crucial blow for the American consumer," he said.

Previous presidents have suggested sales of individual stockpiled commodities in an effort to force rollbacks of commercial prices. But Nixon becomes the first to propose a wholesale sell-off for economic reasons.

Nixon's proposal would mark the first major sale of items from the stockpile, which was created in 1938 during the build-up that preceded World War II. The store of possible war material was reorganized in 1946, and most of the materials now in warehouses from coast-to-coast was acquired in the 1950s, during and immediately after the Korean War.

Nixon emphasized that a stockpile only about 10 per cent of the current size would be adequate for the nation's defense needs.

"Our new guidelines would provide the needed commodities to cover our material requirements for the first year of a major conflict in Europe and Asia," he said.

"In the event of a longer conflict, these 12 months would give us sufficient time to mobilize so that we could sustain our defense effort as long as necessary without placing an intolerable burden on the economy or the civilian population."

"I have approved new guidelines that would tailor the kind and quantity of materials in the stockpiles to the national security needs of the 1970s," Nixon said.

"The new stockpile would be substantially reduced, but it would contain the critical materials that we need in quantities fully adequate for our national security requirements."

Under the plan, the nation would retain in its stockpile such items as jewel bearings, cobalt and silver but would sell off more readily available matters such as aluminum, antimony, castor oil, chromium, iodine, nickel, opium, rubber, shellac and tungsten. The most extensive sales would be about $109 million worth of cordage fibers, $118 million worth of silver and $118 worth of tungsten ores and concentrates.

Nixon conceded his proposal would be controversial.

Kingston Man Arrested on Probation Count

KINGSTON

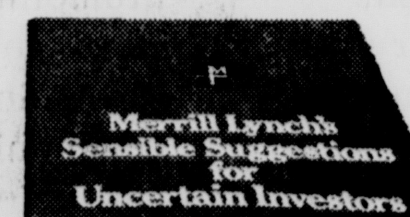

Francis R. Carey, 19, of 36 McEntee Street, Kingston, was arrested by city police shortly before 11 a.m. today on a county court bench warrant charging him with a probation violation.

Carey, who was indicted by the grand jury during March of 1972 on a charge of burglary in the third degree in connection with burglaries in the city, pleaded guilty to that charge and was sentenced to five years probation by County Court Judge Raymond J. Mino in Aug. 1972.

City police turned Carey over to county authorities following the arrest.

Playing Good Guy Rates No Oscar

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN.
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a delivery man, and he keeps telling me how many opportunities he has to get something going with the women on his route.

I know it's true because Al is good-looking, well-built, and has a friendly easy-to-know way about him. He says the women keep telling him that their husbands are at work and their kids are in school all day, and wouldn't he like a cup of coffee "or something." Al says, "Of course I turn them all down because I'm true-blue."

Nevertheless it annoys me to be reminded of his loyalty nearly every day. I told my girl friend about it and she said: "Oh, he's just trying to make you jealous. Laugh it off and pretend you don't care what he does."

Somewhat I'm not very good at pretending. I'm 35 and Al's 36, and I'm still slim and attractive. We have three school-age children. What do you advise?

HIGHLAND PARK HOUSEWIFE
DEAR HOUSEWIFE: Don't laugh it off. Let him know you care a lot. And ask him if it ever occurred to him that you are also a woman with a husband at work and kids in school all day. Then tell him you're "true-blue," too, but don't think you're entitled to a good conduct medal. He'll get the message.

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you about a year ago, telling you how depressed I was because I was dumped by a boy I thought I loved. I wanted to show him I could be "popular," so I threw away my self-respect and went all the way with three different guys on the first date. None of them ever called me back, and I felt so cheap I wanted to die. Then I wrote to you and you told me I would never get a decent boy friend by going all the way with him. You encouraged me to try to rebuild my self-esteem and to keep my morals high from then on, and it would pay off.

That's exactly what I did, and you were right. I am now going with this really great guy who respects me. We have a lot of fun together, and I am all through worrying and feeling cheap.

If this letter convinces only one girl that premarital sex doesn't pay, it will be worth printing. I am no kid. I'm 22, and I've never been happier in my life. You wished me good luck, Abby, and it finally came my way. Thanks for saving my life.

HAPPY IN HARTFORD
DEAR HAPPY: No thanks due me. I only threw you a rope. You caught it.

DEAR ABBY: I don't wish to revive the controversy about how often a woman should bathe, but history records the fact that Cleopatra never took a bath in her life, and she seemed to get along O. K. with the boys.

J. IN PAULS VALLEY, OKLA.

DEAR J.: Where, pray, is this "fact" recorded? If it is indeed true, I'll bet the ASP died too.

DEAR ABBY: Recently when my sisters and I were faced with closing the house in which our parents had lived for many years, we came upon several boxes of old pictures and snapshots. Many were of friends our parents had known over the years, but whom we barely knew. We hated to destroy them, even though they meant nothing to us, so we hit upon the idea of sending them to the families of those involved. In this way we contributed richly to the picture collections of many families. The letters of gratitude we received more than compensated for our efforts.

SENTIMENTAL IN ABILENE, TEX.
DEAR SENTIMENTAL: What a beautiful idea!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FEELS BETTER IN TEXAS," whose conscience bothered her for many years: I sent the $20 to the store you mentioned in your letter, explained the circumstances and kept your identity confidential. Bless you. It's never too late.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

State Education Trailer Scheduled for Lions Expo

KINGSTON With ecology high on today's list of priorities, the New York State Conservation Council's Education Trailer is expected to be a popular nightly attraction at this year's Kingston Lions Exposition at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue.

This year's Expo, called "Spring Festival," with begin May 1 and continue through May 5 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. nightly.

The 32-foot long, specially constructed mobile home was first opened to the public last September in Niagara Falls, and it has been a popular attraction ever since.

The trailer houses audio-visual and diorama conservation exhibits, depicting ravages of forest fires, soil erosion, the destruction of the habitat and wildlife, and the pollution of our salt and fresh waters.

On the positive side there are specimens of the development of a whitetail deer and a brook trout, from embryo to birth.

The purpose of the trailer is to make the public more aware of the misuse of natural resources and help gain public support for conservation programs.

The interior of the trailer was designed and built for the Council by the Nassau County Sportsmen under the guidance of Victor Gajan, chairman of the board of the Nassau County Fish and Game Association, as well as a member of the board of directors of the State Conservation Council.

After spending a few weeks in the Niagara-Erie County area following its first showing, the trailer was returned to the Long Island area for the winter, where it was exhibited at schools, shopping plazas and other areas for several months.

Now that spring is here, the trailer has moved north so that its outstanding facilities will be available to residents across the state, including those in Ulster County, who will be able to view it at the Kingston Lions "Spring Festival."

Watergate Affair 'Tiresome' Robison Tells Area Students

By LYNN MULVANEY

STONE RIDGE

Watergate, aid to North Vietnam and Phase Three were among issues Congressman Howard W. Robison (R-27th District) discussed when confronted with question over the weekend by students of the Rondout Valley and New Paltz High Schools.

"I find the Watergate incident just as tiresome as you do," Robison told Rondout Valley students, adding that he feels the news media has made too much of the Watergate caper.

He said that to date he has received only one letter from a constituent regarding Watergate and that "if mail is any barometer of concern" then perhaps there should not be so much concern.

But, he added, he feels that President Nixon is the only person who can resolve the controversy surrounding the Republican bugging of Democratic Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

"The only person who can remove the stain from the Watergate incident is the President," Robison said. "He, the President, should speak out personally and directly to the people."

The congressman indicated that he did not feel that grand jury or Senate investigations could accomplish the same thing.

Robison also called on President Nixon to speak out concerning the economy, adding that he feels it would be better if Nixon took decisive authority instead of Congress writing all the guidelines.

"I think Phase Three is a flop," Robison said. "Everybody thinks so... it is a psychological flop."

He said prices got out of hand after Jan. 10 and he hasn't seen any of the proposed voluntary guidelines applied. And, he said, there has been "no visible effort on the part of the President to keep things under control."

Robison said he was against rationing and coupons and didn't want to see a shortage Vietnam someday "if" the Nixon as an individual, Robison said he is "a strong-minded person, a different sort of man... hard to understand... remote... certainly an introvert."

Nixon's relations with Congress have been hurt by his remoteness, Robison suggested. But, historically, he will be regarded as a strong person.

The congressman addressed Rondout classes in journalism, American Government and American Economics and visited with Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Robertaccio.

Also addressed students in New Paltz. In response to questions about New Paltz.

Dutchess County CEO Reveals Housing Plan

POUGHKEEPSIE the financier. They will assign a worker to see each family through to the end of their home building project, from site selection to design, from budget counseling and financing to the actual training and their eventual occupation of the completed house.

In an effort to alleviate a local housing problem, the Dutchess County Committee for Economic Opportunity is about to institute a new program which is expected to make it possible for poor families to build their own homes at low cost.

Under the Rural Dutchess Housing Program, as it is called by the DCCEO, on-site training in construction, carpentry, and other necessary skills will be provided to all members of the family.

The program is designed to make it possible for the families to choose a site and build their own home in the rural areas of Dutchess County.

The specialized skills learned in building the house should be valuable in the labor-market upon completion of the home, according to a spokesman for DCCEO. In addition, the family would, in effect, have earned an equity of approximately $10,000 in seven or eight months of working on the house, the spokesman said.

The Rural Dutchess Housing Program will act as the third party between the family and

And Now the Trifecta

MONTICELLO Trifecta, which pays off for picking the correct order of finish of the first three horses in a race, will be put into operation tonight (Monday). The Superfecta, which requires the better to correctly name the first four horses in order of finish, was suspended Saturday pending an investigation of "questionable" betting patterns. The suspension involves Monticello and Roosevelt raceways and the Off-Track Betting Corp. I announcing the institution of the Trifecta, Greenberg said he intended "to cooperate fully" with the investigation and predicted the probe would not hurt Monticello's take or attendance. In New York City, the Daily News reported that the FBI had entered the superfeta investigation.

The News said the federal agency has launched a roundup of "10 percenters" and had already taken into protective custody a woman who has reportedly cashed superfetas totalling more than $400,000.

The term "10 percenter" is applied to a person who is paid to cash tickets for big bettors who want to conceal their identity from the Internal Revenue Service.

The Daily News, according to the Associated Press, quoted a source as saying the same woman appeared five times to collect, each time with "these same two guys with her. Like they were riding shotgun."

OTB's Friday night Superfecta handle was $237,393 or 20 percent of the total.

Following the suspension on Saturday by the New York State Harness Racing Commission and the State OTB Pari-Mutuel Betting Association, a spokesman said "auditors and others knowledgeable with pari-mutuel betting are examining records and at present there is nothing to indicate that anything wrong has occurred."

The spokesman, Davis Etkin, off-track betting chairman at Schenectady, made the statement after Superfecta betting was suspended in Schenectady, the only other city in the state to operate off-track betting.

Under Internal Revenue Law, bettors are required to report any win of $600 or more in a race to the IRS on a special form available at the track.

Superfecta bets, taken only at harness tracks, involving the selection of the first four horses in order as it does, often create payoffs that run into large sums of money. The record is $111,912 for a $3 ticket.

According to one source, while it is exceedingly difficult to determine the order of finish for the first four horses across the finish line in a Superfecta, it is relatively simple to decide which four horses will not be among them. The drivers in the race can see to that, through collusion. This theory is the basis for the present investigation.

Once the scheming drivers have contrived to keep their entries from being among the first four under the wire, the possibilities of picking the Superfecta are greatly enhanced, the theory goes. For a sufficient expenditure of money, those "enhanced possibilities" become outright guarantees.

Chamberlain Saves Lakers; Celtics Crush Knicks

There was a time in the not-too-distant past that people used to say Wilt Chamberlain couldn't win the big games. No one has said that for a while now, and it's likely no one ever will say it again. If Chamberlain did not provide enough proof the way he led the Los Angeles Lakers to the National Basketball Association title a year ago, he's providing more this spring.

The Lakers were on the verge of elimination Sunday night in the seventh game of their first round series with the Chicago Bulls. They trailed 92-91 in the last half-minute, and Chicago had the ball.

Then Chamberlain blocked a shot by Norm Van Lier, threw a full-court pass to Gail Goodrich, who scored, and the Lakers had the lead for the first time in the second half. Jerry West added two foul shots with two seconds to go, Los Angeles won 95-92, and moved into the Western finals beginning Tuesday night against Golden State.

"I was just going after the man who had the ball," said Chamberlain, who scored 21 points and grabbed 28 rebounds in the game. "The block and the pass were just reactions."

"I just saw Wilt block the ball, and broke," Goodrich said. "When I got the ball, I said to myself, 'I gotta make it.'"

Chamberlain who is the all-time leading scorer and rebounder in the NBA and also ranks in the top 10 in assists, was surrounded by mediocre teammates most of his career until he got to Los Angeles, and as a result he has played on only two championship teams. The Lakers, despite their close call against Chicago, could make it No. 3.

While Los Angeles was just getting by, the Boston Celtics, whose regular-season record was the best in the league, slaughtered the New York Knicks in the first game of the Eastern finals.

The Celtics handed New York its worst defeat of the year 134-108 but John Havlicek insisted the lopsided score "doesn't mean anything" because "they just got a bad one out of their system."

West scored 27 points and Goodrich 22 to lead the Los Angeles offense but game honors went to Van Lier, who dumped in 28 before misfiring on his most important shot.

Chicago, whose coach, Dick Motta, said "this loss is just like a year's work down the drain," led most of the game. The Bulls were ahead 90-84 with three minutes to go before Jim McMillian—who had missed his first 16 shots—hit a jumper and Goodrich followed with a fast break layup.

That made it 90-88 and, after Bob Love made a jump shot for Chicago, West hit a free throw and McMillian a breakaway shot to make it 92-91 and set the stage for Chamberlain.

Los Angeles will be heavily favored over Golden State, which finished a distant second to the Lakers in its division but scored a stunning, six-game first-round upset of the Milwaukee Bucks.

The New York-Boston game simply was no contest and even Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn said he was "surprised."

"But," cautioned Heinsohn, "the same thing could happen to us in New York," where the series resumes Wednesday night.

Jo Jo White scored 30 points and Havlicek 26 for the Celtics, who shot 57 per cent from the field.

The American Basketball Association's divisional championship series resume tonight with the third game of the best-of-seven series.

KC, Yanks Revive Past

By United Press International

It was nostalgia time for the New York Yankees Sunday but it's the Kansas City Royals who are bringing back the memories of the old Yankees.

The Yankees celebrated the 50th anniversary of the opening of Yankee Stadium Sunday by reprinting the program from the first game ever played at the "House That Ruth Built" and downing the Boston Red Sox 6-2.

On the cover of the program was a picture of former Yankee owner Col. Jake Ruppert. Col. Ruppert was the guy who once said he didn't like close games. He said he enjoyed the games when the Yankees took an 8-0 lead in the first inning and then gradually pulled away.

And those were the kind of games the old Yankees played. They're also the kind of games the new Royals are playing. Under their new manager, Jack McKeon, the Royals are boasting baseball's newest Murderer's Row.

Even little Fred Patek joined the parade Sunday when the Royals blasted four homers to clobber the shell-shocked Chicago White Sox 12-5 and complete a three-game sweep. The Royals took a 9-0 lead after three innings and then gradually pulled away in a fashion that Col. Ruppert would have loved.

The A's now have scored 12 runs four times this season while streaking to a 7-2 record. Patek joined Hal McRae, Ed Kirkpatrick and John Mayberry in the homer derby Sunday as the Royals pounded out 14 hits.

Chuck Tanner, the Chicago manager, was so impressed by the Kansas City team that he was talking more about their "great defensive infield" than their hitting.

When he finally got around to mentioning their hitting, he said, "it speaks for itself." He added, "nobody better take Kansas City lightly because they literally beat our brains out."

The Royals scored a total of 27 runs in the three games with the White Sox while recording 12-5, 3-0 and 12-5 victories.

Despite the homer barrage, McKeon said, "nobody is trying to hit a homer every time up but I can tell you one thing, the rest of the league better be prepared because we're for real."

"The players have dedicated themselves to winning and they have a new attitude that's quite remarkable," he added. "They are probably the most unselfish bunch of guys I've ever worked with. They don't worry about their batting averages."

In the other games, the Cleveland Indians blanked the Detroit Tigers 7-0 and the Milwaukee Brewers beat Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings in the first game of a doubleheader but lost the second game 5-4. The Minnesota at Oakland game and the California at Texas doubleheader were rained out.

Horace Clarke hit a two-run single in the six-run fourth inning and Mel Stottlemyre pitched a four-hitter to give the Yankees the victory over Boston, which had beaten the Yankees four straight games. Bob Shawkey, the winning pitcher in the first game at Yankee Stadium, was one of the dignitaries on hand for the ceremonies.

Gaylord Perry pitched a two-hitter and Charlie Spikes hit his first major league homer—a three-run shot in the sixth inning—to pace Cleveland to the victory over Detroit. Tom Timmerman took the loss.

Perry is now 2-1 this year and has beaten the Tigers twice. Mark Belanger's ninth-inning single capped a two-run rally and gave Baltimore the second game victory over Milwaukee. In the first game, Jim Palmer was trying for a 2-1 victory in the ninth inning when rookie Garman Thomas hit his first major league homer to tie the game. Pedro Garcia then singled in the winning run in the 11th inning for Milwaukee off Bob Reynolds.

Joe Morgan slugged a pair of home runs in the second game as the Reds completed the sweep. Morgan, Tony Perez and Dave Concepcion had three hits apiece in the nightcap.

Morgan stole five bases in the two games, running almost at will. John Milner tagged a two-run homer in the first inning and Tug McGraw bailed rookie Harry Parker out of an eighth-inning jam as New York topped Philadelphia.

Joe Pepitone drilled a home run, single and double, driving in five runs to lead Chicago past St. Louis. Willie Stargell and Gene Alley clubbed home runs to help Pittsburgh defeat Montreal. Stargell had three hits and Bob Robertson drove home a couple of runs with clutch hits. Alley's three-run shot in the ninth put the game out of reach.

San Diego got a pair of well-pitched games from Mike Corbins and Bill Grief to sweep a doubleheader from Houston.

San Diego's pitching for Aaron with 18 runs and 28 hits in the doubleheader sweep.

The first game romp included five hits by Cesar Geronimo, who scored four times. The fifth hit by Geronimo was a two-run double against Dave Kingman ... the same Dave Kingman who hit 29 homers for the Giants last year. The slugger's appearance as a mop-up reliever was merely a matter of the Giants saving a regular arm in a lost cause.

Aaron's Numbers Improve

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hank Aaron's countdown continues and the numbers are getting better all the time.

With the 1973 baseball season nine games old for the Atlanta Braves, Aaron has managed only three hits which is not 11-0 in the first game and win very good. But each of those hits are home runs and that's awfully good. That's 676 home runs for Aaron's fabulous career and 38 away from his target—Babe Ruth's legendary 714.

Aaron's latest homer came Sunday in a losing cause as the Braves bowed to Los Angeles and Al Downing 6-2.

In other National League games Sunday, New York edged Philadelphia 2-1, Pittsburgh slugged Montreal 8-3, Chicago beat St. Louis 8-6, San Diego swept a doubleheader with Houston, winning the first game 5-1 and taking the second game 5-1 and Cincinnati swept a pair of games with San Francisco, romping only three hits which is not 11-0 in the first game and win very good. But each of those hits are home runs and that's awfully good. That's 676 home runs for Aaron's fabulous career and 38 away from his target—Babe Ruth's legendary 714.

Highest Finish in 3 Years, But Homero Will Take It

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — It was the highest finish by a winner in at least three years on the pro tour, but happy Homero Blancas wasn't at all ashamed of it.

"I'll take a one stroke victory every time," Blancas said in gasping relief after he and Frank Beard took turns backing off in the final round of the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Blancas backed off just a little less. He bogeyed two of his last three holes. But Beard bogeyed three of his last five and Homero pulled down the $30,000 first prize with a fat, four-over-par 75 in the final round.

He scored his fifth victory in 10 years on the pro tour with a 277 total, seven-under-par on the cool and windswept, 6,679 yard Pensacola Country Club course.

Beard, who made up a four stroke deficit over the first 10 holes, blew it with bogey on his last two holes. He finished with a 72 for 278—his best in more than two years.

"I'm a nervous wreck," Blancas said as he headed for the prestigious Tournament of Champions in La Costa, Calif., this week. It's his third consecutive trip to that event that brings together the winner of regular tour events for the last 12 months.

He gained entry on the last stop before the Tournament of Champions when the steady Beard missed a par-saving 10-foot putt on the final hole that could have tied it up and sent the tournament into a sudden death playoff.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, April 17

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgement and the desire to argue are an integral part of today's aspects. Make an effort to place your thoughts under spiritual guidance to withstand the chance of negative actions. You can accomplish a great deal.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Associates may not be in a good mood and find fault over little things so plan how to have more harmony with them. A letter or phone call received can clarify your vision.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make sure you take care of your special job wisely and well today, or there could be trouble instead of advancement. Follow your intuition, which is good now. Show more finesse with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Having pleasure is fine provided you don't run away from important duties you have to perform. Show more devotion to mate and have more harmony in the future. Steer clear of trouble tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you give your home more attention now and increase harmony there. Conditions at work can improve considerably if you show more cooperation with co-worker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use please others more. Don't be so demanding with others. Take that fine smile you have and those personal health treatments that can make you feel much better. Avoid a person who gossips.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Analyze your present position and see how you can better it in some way. An adviser you consult with may not like your views at all. Listen to his and then use the best of both.

LIRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Fine day for depending upon a very generous friend who understands your ideas and will give you the support you need. Make an appointment with one who can help you in your line of endeavor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you improve your position in the outside world, it will be because you have impressed higher-ups favorably. Show that you have ability. Patriotism can gain the approval of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Even among much confusion you are able to use fine judgement and settle problems intelligently. Plan time to show good friends that you are loyal. Do nothing of a foolish nature.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have been working too rapidly and should now slow down and get on an even keel. Obtain needed information from the right source and make plans for the future. Think constructively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with a good friend who can show you how best to treat an overly egotistical associate. Then plan how to gain a personal wish easily and well. Happiness can be yours tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Go to one in high office who can give you the backing or advice you need at this time. Keep busy at work, but pay little attention to a troublesome co-worker. Improve career affairs.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people whose mind is buzzing with ideas and needs to be in the company of others with similar leanings so that there can be a fine exchange of creativity. Success can be assured because of the ability to get others to cooperate via a gentle attitude. Sports are fine here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

By PHIL PASTORET

The food price rise has come home to the kids. Pizza has gone up 5 cents a slice.

It's easy to dream-up nut-burger recipes when you're fueled with prime steak on your OWN menu.

Stretching meat is about all you can do with the tough cuts we can afford.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MOTOR GIRL: (Q) I have a problem that I bet you've never been faced with before. You see, I want to be a mechanic just like my father and fix motors just as he does. The problem is I'm a girl, age 13. My father thinks it's OK and my mother does too. My friends at school, including my boy friend, think I am stupid to want such a future. Could you please help me?—Criticized in Maine.

(A.) Fortunately, young people of today are guided more by what to do and what they enjoy doing than by what society dictates that they do.

A girl no longer has to feel like an old maid at 20. She is no longer compelled to marry and have children just because "That's the thing to do." Neither does she feel that the only jobs open to her are as a teacher or as a secretary.

NEVER AGAIN? (Q) Jenny told me something on the telephone several weeks ago. She said she never wanted to go steady again. It didn't make any difference to me then, but it does now, because I've found out I am very fond of her and want her to be my steady.

She told me that right after she broke up with her boy friend. He is a lot bigger than I am—an athlete, and smart. I'm just an average boy.

Now I can't ask her to be my steady because of what she said. Or do you think I might get her to change her mind?—Changed in Indiana.

(A.) Jenny is a human being. Human beings change their minds. Jenny may have changed her mind about going steady. You can't know unless you ask her.

And if she hasn't changed it yet, your asking her may encourage her to do so soon.

Besides, even if she hasn't or doesn't change her mind about going steady, you can still be friends.

Don't let the fact that her former boy friend is big and has muscles bother you. There was something the matter with him, or she wouldn't have broken up with him.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Leprosy is an illness which historically has made outcasts of its victims, though it is one of the least communicable of diseases. The World Almanac notes. Fear of leprosy grew from the unpleasant mutilations observed in untreated cases. Leprosy is not usually fatal since vital organs are seldom affected, but death may result when another disease interacts.

TV Plans More Law and Order

NEW YORK (AP) — In case you stepped out for a short beer when the networks unveiled their new fall lines, here is the late news: There'll be slightly more law, order and situation comedy on television next season.

Instead of the boldness that marked the start of the 1972-73 season, the cry of the coming year seems to be: "Stand pat. Don't rock the boat. Fight crime and keep the giggles coming."

The networks began announcing their 1973-74 evening schedules two weeks ago. Now that ABC has finished its roll call, there are 11 2-3 shows on the casual list and 19 new shows in the works.

There still are a few series to be announced, but the schedules essentially are set. And by my count, there'll be at least 16 police or private eye series on next year, or two more than now.

There will be at least 21 situation comedies, three more than exist now, with the big increase coming at NBC.

There'll be two new legal series—ABC's Mr. and Ms. show about opposing lawyers who are husband and wife and CBS' recycled Perry Mason effort, now called "The New Adventures of Perry Mason."

They'll join the only legal show now on the air, ABC's "Owen Marshall." Another barrister, played by Jimmy Stewart in "Hawkins," will face the television bench but once a month.

There'll still be only two Westerns on the range, CBS' durable "Gunsmoke" and ABC's "Kung Fu."

The sad song known as the Cancellation Rag was heard most frequently at ABC, which banished six series from the air for next season. CBS cancelled four: NBC, 1 2-3.

NBC's one was "Laugh-In," and the two-thirds were the "Madigan" and "Cool Million" segments of "Wednesday Mystery Movie." "Banacek," the third, stayed and soon will be joined by two others.

The ABC ax fell on the veteran "Mod Squad," the one-season "Julie Andrews Hour," the "Paul Lynde Show," "The Men," and two mid-season replacements. "Here We Go Again" and "A Touch of Grace."

Lynde came out okay, though. He'll replace James Whitmore in "Temperatures Rising" when it returns for a second season.

CBS smote the veteran "Mission Impossible" and "Doris Day" shows, with two rookies, "The New Bill Cosby Show" and "Bridget Loves Bernie."

Lorne Green, whose "Bonanza" series on NBC finally died this year, will return on ABC in a series called "Griff," where he plays a retired cop turned private eye. It'll appear Saturday nights.

It may seem similar in format to the "Barnaby Jones" series, but that must be a coincidence. Jones is on Sunday nights. On CBS.

House Takes Up Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — After days of buffeting by conflicting lobbyists, the House today begins debating whether to enact a price, rent and interest rollback or simply continue President Nixon's discretionary control authority.

All sides predicted a close vote, which could come today, or as late as Wednesday.

The principal alternatives are:

A bill supported by Democrats that would roll prices, and consumer and home mortgage interest rates back to the March 16 levels and roll rents back to the Jan. 10 levels.

A bill continuing the authority under which Nixon has set the pace of three phases of economic controls. The Democratic bill would also continue this authority, but add the rollback requirements. Republicans, following Nixon's wishes, will try to pass the simple extension.

Also technically before the House is proposed across-the-board rollback to Jan. 10 levels, as originally proposed by the House Banking Committee. Democratic leaders of the committee and the House, however, are pushing the less drastic March 16 date as a compromise.

With spokesmen for cattle-men leading the drive, banking, farming and business interests have mounted an intensive campaign against any rollback. They contend it would be impossible to administer, would catch many middlemen in an intolerable cost-price squeeze, and would lead to shortages, black markets, bank failures and general economic chaos.

Equally determined consumer groups are pushing for a rollback at least to March 16, preferably earlier. The National Consumer Congress, claiming support of 50 boycott groups across the nation, has threatened a massive buyers strike in May unless there is a rollback to January prices.

Mail and telephone calls have flooded Capitol Hill offices. A Banking Committee aide said office lines have been tied up for hours at a time and it has been impossible even to log all the messages.

Advocates of the various courses have descended on the Capitol in scores, one cattle-men's group accompanied by two steers that were briefly set to graze under the committee's windows.

Most predictions of the outcome were guarded. One Democratic strategist, describing the conflict as a test of strength between housewives and a business-banking-rural combine, said that consumer-oriented Republicans from urban areas will decide the issue.

Lebanon Refuses Troops

By United Press International
Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy said Sunday that Beirut turned down an offer he made to send "thousands of Arab volunteers" to defend Lebanon against Israeli attacks.

The 30-year-old army colonel and chairman of the Revolutionary Command Council also said the Arab guerrilla movement was inefficient and blamed this on Arab governments.

"The Arab nation," he said at a meeting observing the birth day of the Moslem Prophet Mohammed, "is in bad need of men and weapons and vengeance against the enemy."

But Khadafy said that when Libya offered thousands of volunteers to Lebanon so it could protect itself in case of more Israeli attacks, Beirut refused.

"The (Palestinian) resistance is nonexistent," he said, "and it was the Arabs who finished it off with the cooperation of the Zionist enemy."

He did not name any Arab governments, but said that some Arab governments did not permit volunteers sent by Libya to cross their borders to fight Israel.

Khadafy also said his government would aid "revolutionaries" in Africa, North and South America, the Philippines and Northern Ireland, but did not elaborate.

QE 2 Sails

LONDON (UPI) — The luxury liner Queen Elizabeth II sailed today, representing the combined efforts of police, air force, navy, frogmen, Royal Marine commandos, the British equivalent to the Green Berets and the Burns international detective agency.

Some London newspapers even said the U.S. 6th Fleet might become involved in guarding the Queen Elizabeth before her arrival at Haifa at the end of a voyage for persons wishing to take part in the celebrations marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of the state.

Indian Supplies Are Halted

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — A helicopter loaded with medical supplies was prevented from entering Wounded Knee Sunday by local Oglala Sioux Indians who vowed to keep all supplies out of the hamlet until militant Indians end their 48-day occupation.

Federal authorities, caught in the squeeze of trying to keep local peace and end the occupation without bloodshed, apparently gave in to the local Indians when the helicopter was turned back at federal roadblock No. 1.

Meanwhile, an attorney for government officials and Indians occupying Wounded Knee. The militants possibly were awaiting the outcome of the scheduled court appearance of two AIM leaders in the U.S. District Court at Pierre, S.D.

The leaders—Russell Means and Clyde Bellecourt—surrendered earlier to federal authorities and were to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. CST on charges stemming from the Wounded Knee takeover.

The band of about a dozen local Indians trying to prevent supplies from entering Wounded Knee set up their own roadblock outside the federal perimeter surrounding the hamlet and flatly rejected government requests to pull down the barrier.

The Indians called themselves "irate citizens" and the "original residents of Wounded Knee." They said their action was prompted by the government's failure to get militants to abandon their occupation.

Although the Indians involved were not the same ones who earlier set up a roadblock under direction of Oglala Sioux Tribal Chairman Dick Wilson, Wilson said he was "behind them 100 per cent."

Two Weekend Murders in Ulster

BELFAST (UPI) — A week-end of bombing and shooting left two persons dead, one of them the first known Protestant member of the Irish Republican Army and the second a woman slain by gunmen as she answered her doorbell.

The two murders, which raised the toll in nearly four years of violence among Roman Catholics, Protestants and security forces to 775, were among 17 separate incidents reported by police Saturday and Sunday.

Gunmen cruising in Belfast in a car shot and killed Robert Millen, 23, while gunmen slew Mrs. Margaret Miller with a fusillade fired through her front door.

Millen, police said, was the first known Protestant member of the IRA, which previously was considered exclusively Catholic. Police said he was shot while on patrol Saturday night in south Belfast for the Official wing of the IRA.

"We were naturally surprised when we discovered his religion," police said, "and the only explanation we can think of is that he believed in the Officials' Marxist policies."

Police said they were still investigating the motive for the murder Sunday of Mrs. Miller, who lived in a Protestant neighborhood bordering a Catholic area.

"The gunmen apparently rang her doorbell," police said, "then opened fire when they heard her reach the hallway. Neighbors then heard a car speed away."

In other weekend violence, a bomb wrecked the clubhouse of the Londonderry Golf Club Sunday and Protestant and Catholic mobs clashed with each other in Lurgan and south Belfast.

The army apologized Sunday for wounding two teenagers that soldiers mistook for gunmen in Belfast. A 19-year-old girl and 15-year-old boy were seriously wounded in the incident Saturday night.

An army spokesman said soldiers opened fire on a car
